

Dr. Christian Bahrim will discuss the cohesion between Faith and Science, about the complementarity in the message coming from religion and metaphysics on one side, and what we call 'scientific evidence' on the other. It will be an open conversation that intends to showcase clear evidence of the coherence in the message coming from the Faith in God and Science as supported by academic institutions. Cristian Bahrim is Full Professor of Physics and Director of the Office of Undergraduate Research at Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas.
